KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 28, 1940.

DOG-OWNERS MUST COOPERATE The city authorities acted quickly in the serious matter of rabies among dogs in the city but their efforts will be of no avail unless dog-owners cooperate to the fullest.

Kingston will be quarantined for rabies among dogs as a result of the death of a dog in the city dog pound on March 22 and the quarantine will be in force until raised by the State Health Department.

No dogs may roam the streets of the city without wearing muzzles until the quarantine is lifted. The State Health Department imposed the quarantine when tests proved conclusively that the dog picked up by the dog warden had rabies.

Dog-owners who fail to muzzle their dogs are subject to a fine not to exceed $25 for the first offense and the law will be rigidly enforced. However, it is expected that all will cooperate for their own safety and for the welfare of others.

A sure safeguard would to have all dogs kept indoors until the quarantine is lifted. A muzzled dog might be bitten by a rabid dog and not knowing his condition, he could in turn bite his owner or member of the household or some other person and thereby spread the dread disease.

Keeping dogs in the house or tied up in the yard will prove a source of annoyance but it is a serious matter and will be worth tolerating. If the full cooperation of the public is given, the quarantine will be lifted all the

Kingston residents in the past have exercised good common sense and they can be depended on again to cooperate in this

BIRDS, FLOODS AND DUST

City people who go on bird walks in the woods on fine spring mornings may not know that they have a common interest with the farmers in the dust bowl or the flood victims | troscope. on the lower Mississippi. But they do. That common interest is conservation.

"Within the government and without," says Morris L. Cooke, former administrator of the Rural Electrification Commission, "we need to recognize the essential unity of soil. water, forest, game and human problems, which are so coordinated as to advance as one. Whether our principal interest be in soil, water, songbirds, game or forests: whether we are thinking in immediate terms of soil to be restored, floods to be quieted, or in the ultimate terms of human security, we can all work together for the good of the country "Informed citizens, working outside the government, can do much that needs to be done to make conservation programs pull more closely together, deliver more for the dollar and make sense.

Such pleas are part of the growing effort made by people who see the problem clearly to awaken the rest of us to its urgency. The whole nation suffers when good farm land is changed to barren, eroded acres and when fertile soil is washed into our rivers and finally into the sea. The whole nation suffers when the waters of lakes and streams are polluted. Now is a good time to stop doing the wrong things to our natural resources and to play our part in their conservation.

SUN-TROUBLE

The sun may have spots on his face, but nothing to compare with the spots on our poor little old Earth, as they would show on a military map. And all the electrical disturbances blamed on Sol lately are a mere celestial flicker to the troubles in Europe and their reflections and reverberations around be saved. the world.

Former generations would have been superstitious about this. The nightly auroras, filling the northern skies with their weird lights, would have been interpreted as signs from heaven warning our erring nations and statesmen to mend their ways. We moderns are too sophisticated, of course, to heed any such nonsense. Our scientists give rational explanations for such phenomena and their invisible consequences in jamming our radio broadcasts and telegraphic communication little uneasy. Aviators, especially of the THE LONG, LONG TRAIL military breed, start worrying a little about their ignition. And even the most hardened unbeliever may break down enough to admit that it is very impressive and suggestive when such phenomena occur on Easter.

But Mars is a heathen god, and all this may soon be forgotten as the spring campaigns begin.

IMPERIAL SPORTSMANSHIP

Mahatma Gandhi, political and spiritual leader of 300,000,000 Hindus, is not only a great and good man but a good sportsman. He wants self-government for India, and has the people with him, but refuses to call a strike for complete independence while Britain is involved in war with Germany. This decision makes Britain's burden much lighter than it might have been.

Gandhi was educated in England. Maybe he developed this spirit on English cricket fields. But he has also placed the British government on a spot. Britain now must live up to its own sporting ideals and give India a fair deal.

Other nations have their wars and we have our elections.

When a patient has some of the symptoms of ulcer of the stomach or of the first part of the small ntestine, an X-ray of these parts of the digestive trace is made after giving the patient some barium sulphate. The use of the fluroscope which shows whether there is any depression in the lining of the stomach and intestine, and the use of X-ray films which give a permanent record, is one method of telling whether ulcer is present. Other methods are the amount of hydrochloric acid in the stomach digestive juice after a meal of tea and toast has been

Similarly when symptoms of cancer are present, toast meals are given and X-ray examinations made. Thus when the physician is told by the X-ray expert that neither ulcer nor cancer is present, it is a great relief to his mind and to the mind of the

However, if the patient still has the symptoms although no ulcer or cancer is present, something must be wrong, and something must be done to relieve the symptoms. It is in such cases as this that the gastroscope is of help to the physician. The gastroscope ('gastro' means stomach) which enables the physician to see the lining of the patient's stomach, often reveals that the lining of the stomach is inflamed and the ailment is known as gastritis.

Just to what extent this new instrument can ly 10,000 new outpatients, the cause of the symptoms was not definitely found in 589 cases (nearly 40 per cent.) Early Cancer Is Curable

"Early Cancer is Curable. Fight It with nowledge"—this is the slogan of the Women's Field Army Against Cancer, the volunteer educattional organization that is being built throughout the country, under the auspices of the American Society for the Control of Cancer. Its goal is to save lives from cancer by replacing blind fear with knowledge and by showing men and women what they can do as individuals and as part of an organized movement to control this disease.

Cancer raises questions everyone must face: it is a most democratic disease in that anyone, whatever his class or race or religion, may develop it. In all, 150,000 persons die of this disease annually in the United States. Perhaps one out of seven with cancer are being cured. With effective co operation, between one-third and one-half should

Those 12 New Hampshire voters may yet occupy a place in political history not unlike the niche in world history of that serbian youth who took a few pot-shots at an archduke's car, and touched off the World War. For, in the long run, the Battle of the Census will be a real battle.

What those New Hampshire voters started was a curtain raising skirm-ish. The real battle to come -a struggle for survival of the fittest politician —may last for months, perhaps a couple of years, and before it's over

Washington — Twelve New
Hampshire voters armed themselves with 36 cents in stamps and an irresistible urge to write their an irresistible urge to write their and whatnot, or at least let them answer to Washington by mail.

Thousands of privates enlisted said the census bureau. "O yeah?" retorted Tobey, making a bee-line for the nearest mi-crophone with a nation-wide hook-

The senator's strategy clicked.
After one month, he claims 14,000 recruits throughout the nation.
Hundreds more letters poured in on other senators and congressmen. The census bureau said it got a few hundred, too.

Angry pen-wielders said the income questions weren't helf of it come questions weren't half of it, either. They'd been told over the radio they'd go to jail of they didn't answer. As red-blooded Americans, they'd just go to jail. So there.

The heat was definitely on. "Un-American, unlawful," shouted Quick-on-the Trigger To-

"Un-American yourself — absurd," sputtered harassed Harry Hopkins, formerly of the WPA, and now responsible for census questions as secretary of com-

Funny what a few voters with postage stamps and an urge can do in a democracy!

Epithets burned the air at both ends of Constitution avenue. And still they come, burying the merits of the issue in blasts of hot words. It sounds more like the babble of the census. the census.

'Business Sought Data'

For public consumption, Tobey insists the income and divorce questions violate the bill of rights,

Also for the public ear, Harry Hopkins replies that the demand for the questions originated with professional and business groups and statesmen who needed to know something recombined to the control of know something more about the incomes of people who make less than $5,000 a year. Furthermore, says Hopkins, the facts about unemployment—our biggest unsolved

Many politicians and statesmen want the income data for speeches, programs, bills and what-have-you, dealing with unemployment cer Jones of Ashokan. you, dealing with unemployment and relief. Some of them are curious to know, too, whether the President was right—or talking through his hat—when he said one-third of the nation is ill-clad, ill-housed, and ill-fed.

Hopkins Interested?

could be asked whether Harry Hopkins, a right bower in the White House, might not be interested in those questions for similar reasons. Would they prove the President's thesis? Justify New Deal spending for low-income Americans? And wouldn't the censults the state of the week-end with their mother, Mrs. Orpha Van Kleeck spent the week-end with their mother, Mrs. Orpha Van William Lasher enjoyed an auto trip to Troy Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Maroney of White Plains spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. sus taker's answers to those questions be ready to release to the public (and orators) in the heat of the coming presidential campaign? Maybe so, maybe not.

And another stickler:

Why have none of the professional groups outside government that originally told Harry Hopkins he had their OK on Census Questions No. 32 and 33, come Wappingers Falls are visiting her charging to the rescue of the besister, Mrs. Reginald Davis. leaguered secretary?

They're not saying. But maybe they don't like to back publicly inquests into private incomes, or they figure they'll be singed in the political bonfires this fall. Or if they're anti-New Deal, maybe they agree with that senator, who said a couple of "silly questions" might lose the Democratic party a million votes this fall.

And why hasn't the Republican party high command come blasting down the political highway to back up Senator Tobey?

Now we're getting warm. Positively hot, in fact. The Republican party's high command knows—as does the Democratic high command—that the real battle of the census is still to be fought. And it's not strictly a party affair. Jealous members of the House of Representatives in both parties, especially mem-bers in both parties who may lose their seats when the census man's figures are totalled, the primary strugglers in that battle.

Reapportionment's the word for it And! it means political blood-letting every ten years. But that's another story.

To date we have only three developments in the opening skirm-ish of the census:

1. Lots of people don't like the idea of discussing their incomes and their divorces with the census

2. Senator Tobey's blast may damage the results of the 1940

3. And Tobey or no Tobey, John Q. Citizen will be asked about his income if he makes less than $5,- 000 a year, although he may seal the answers away from the eyes of the census taker, and mail them to Washington.

Senator Tobey wins his fight—and also loses it—because (A) the Senate won't push through his resolution asking the Census Bu-reau not to ask the income ques-tions, and (B) the courts won't have time to pass on the legality of the questions before the census takers arm themselves with blank forms, umbrellas, overshoes, and smiles, and assault the nation's door-bells.

National Bank Call Is Issued of March 26

Washington, March 28 (4)-The comptroller of the currency issued a call today for the condition of all national banks at the close of business Tuesday, March 26.

Similar condition reports were asked by the federal reserve board of its state member banks, bringing the total number of banks affected by the call to 6,400, of which 5,200 are national banks and 1,200 state banks belonging to the federal reserve system.

Other state banks were not asked to report, since the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation is-sues condition calls only twice a year. The other agencies issue three or four times a year.

BERKELEY, CALIF .- As a result of the war and unsettled conditions in Europe, the United States has attracted the top rank scientists of the world, and is becoming not only the haven for science but the world center of it, officials of the University of California agree.

This is indicated, it is pointed out by the fact that five of the last six Nobel prize winners in physics are working in the United States, while the records of the Nobel foundation show that several prize winners in other years also are carrying on in this country

Two of the last six winners, Dr. Enrico Fermi of Columbia university and Dr. Ernest Lawrence of California, are working in the campus of the University of California, Dr. Fermi is the holder of the Hitchcock professorship and Dr. Lawrence heads the university's radiation laboratory Facts and figures on the Nobel prize winners in physics, as gathered by Prof. Raymond T. Bridge, reveal the impressive part that this country is playing in the development of physics studies. Nine of the Physics Nobel prize winners are in the United States. The five of six latest winners include Carl D. Anderson and V. G. Hess, both of the California Institute of Technology, who won the prize jointly in 1936; Dr. Clinton J. Davisson of the Bell Telephone laboratories, who shared the prize with Dr. George P. Tompson, noted British physicist in 1937, and Dr. Fermi and Lawrence, who won the prize in 1938 and 1939 respectively.

The other four winners working in this country are Dr. Albert Einstein, compounder of the Einstein theory of relativity, now at the Institute for Advance Study of Princeton university, winner of 1921; Dr. Robert A. Millikan, University of Chicago, winner in 1923; Dr. James electric water system, not only may Franck, Johns Hopkins university, winner in 1925 with Dr. Gustav Hertz of Germany, and Dr. Arthur H. Compton, University of Chicago, winner in 1927 with Dr. Charles Rees Wilson, another noted British

Altogether, 46 scientists in many countries, have won the Nobel prize in physics, the first being William Konrad Roentgen, who created the

Plane Industry Sets U. S. Record for '39 Exports

WASHINGTON .- Harry L. Hopkins, secretary of commerce, announced that exports of aeronautical products during 1939 set a record for the industry, topping the 1938 figures by 86 per cent and those of 1937 by 197 per cent. France and Great Britain headed the list, accounting for 66 per cent of the 1939 total of $117,081,212, which was in itself 32 per cent of all aeronautic exports ever sent from this

France was the leader of the 91 nations buying aviation products from the United States last year, spending $42,484,742. France's total expenditures for similar purposes in 1938 were $878,775. Great Britain ran second with $34,484,800. Her 1938 expenditures were $3,916,117. Twelve hundred planes were exported last year. Their total value was $66,386,866. Other exports inluded 1,880 engines, worth $14,120,-035; parachutes and parts valued at $775,389, and aircraft and engine parts, instruments and accessories worth $35,798,922.

London Drops to Third Place Rank Among Cities

LONDON.-Evacuation and war conditions have robbed London of its title of being the world's biggest

Before the war, the populations of the world's largest cities were London, 8,202,818; New York, 6,930,-446; Tokyo, 6,000,000; Berlin, 4,250,-000. But London now is in third place with a population of barely 5,000,000.

Some 12,000 people have moved from one suburb alone; 15,000 from another; 18,000 from another. And there are still 464,000 mothers and children living in country areas.

The governor of the Gas Light and Coke company, Sir David Milne Watson, says there has been a decrease of 1,500,000 customers in London since war began. Taking an average of two people to a home only, this accounts for fully 3,000,000

PROBLEM PARENTS

(A) Feature Service

You parents who sit in judgment so frequently upon your children—how would you stack up if they judged you?

They do judge you daily, as a matter of fact, and store up in their hearts recollections of things THEY will do differently if THEY ever have a family. THEY can't scold or spank.

"They Do Judge You Daily'

Too often they don't know any more than the parents themselves just what has gone wrong or why. They do know, however, that they have parent problems.

To give parents better insight into child training, from a new point of view, we will present a weekly series, starting tomorrow, on "Problem Parents." It will point out the faults and attitudes, not of typical children, but of typical parents. It will try to give parents the child's point of view.

The series draws largely on U. S. Children's Bureau source material.

Tomi stood up resolutely. "Bartell is not going to win," she stated emphatically. "I still have a fine chance. The Tolands threw me off the track, but I can make up the time I lost there. You're a dear, Pierre, to want to save me, but it's my fight."
"You'll win!" Pierre shook her hands, warmly.

A huge ice compartment held the perishable goods; steaks, roasts, chickens, fish.

"And nary a frog leg," teased two me nand the million frogs well fed and contented.

At sunset Tomi, from Dotty's window, watched a strange pro-cedure at the pens. Old Abe had erected a pulley line across the main market pen. He was standing at one side working the pulley. Occasionally he would let out a triumphant "whoop!"

Tomi sped to the pen. "Abe, what in the name of goodness are you doing?" she asked. "Well now—" Abe looked abashed - "frogs is fussy. They take their food movin' or not at all. I was experimentin'." "You were what?" gasped

'Conceited Girl!'

THE next morning Tomi, looking very much the heir to a million dollars rather than a million frogs, embarked on the branch line. She was feeling triumphant. The beach was to be cured of those spider-like little crabs which, once inside of her frogs, would materially assist the black army in defeating the reds.

The Daylight Limited, a cream and orange streamline, slid into San Jose like something out of another world. Even the porters were garbed to match the train, and the interior of her car was like nothing she had ever dreamed of seeing. Pastel walls, overstuffed chairs, wide crystal-clear windows. Tomi sank into a chair, removed, her hat and relaxed. For eight hours she could imagine herself an heiress. For eight hours

THE next morning Tomi, look-and wamber sea. Someone remarked that those houses low against the water were the beach homes of movie stars. She wished she might be a star for a few days.

A series of serrated peaks thrust purple heads from the water. An island. She lived on an island. Bay Farm Island. . . and somewhere within her few acres there was someone helping Allen Bartell. Pierre, Dotty, or Old Abe.

It was a disturbing thought. Of course Allen might be due in court the next morning. But it was too much of a coincidence for her to accept. The man persisted in staying one jump ahead of her. "When I return," she promised, grimly, "I'll find out which one it is. I don't believe it's Pierre. It's either Dotty or Old Abe."

she would forget frogs, forget the Tolands, forget Pierre, Abe, Dot-ty. Forget Allen Bartell. What a relief. She sighed deeply. She might as well look at the passengers. Two business men were seated across the aisle. In front of her she could see two parts in two black heads. They could belong to duds or to interesting people.

And ahead of them? told Pierre.

"Need anyone know?" asked sat down quickly. The head reclining against the back of that seat had crisp, wavy hair, light brown shot with gold. There couldn't be another head like it in these United States. The train was speeding between tar. velvet hills, between fruit farms, trees heavy with fruit, between more hills. The conductor appeared.

Allen Bartell came quickly to her. "Imagine seeing you here," he exclaimed. "Mind if I take this chair?

"How did you know I was go-ing to be on this train? I watched to see that neither Abe nor Dotty telephoned."

Bartell shook his head. "You're the most conceited girl I ever met," he disparaged. "Here I am, due in Superior Court in Los Angeles tomorrow morning, and you assume I've taken an eight-hundred-mile trip for the pleasure of your company."

Nothing could have silenced
Tomi more effectively.
"However—" the golden lights were dancing again—"as long as we're both here, suppose we indulge in some promises. We'll pretend we've just met. I . . . I've picked you up. I don't know you; you don't know me. We're just a couple of streamliners passing in the night."

been a bookkeeper."

Tomi shook her head. "I fell for that game once," she remarked.

"But as long as we must ride the same train, let's pretend we know each other. Let's admit we're both fighting for the same thing."

"Sold!" agreed Bartell, and extended his hand.

TOMI could not be altogether sorry that Bartell was on the same train. He knew every point Everything within the radius of three hundred miles had been scoured. No further markets there were available. She'd have to extend her territory. But how could she do that and cut her sales cost?

But where? The sensible thing would be to go to the places where the greatest number of markets were within the smallest.

He even knew the intriguing-looking gentleman sitting opposite them in the diner, and introduced him to Tomi as a railroad official, the patron saint of that particular train. Tomi didn't know, how the conversation was switched to food, to how the line purchased its sup-

Tomi looked at him, quickly, but he was talking to the official. He left her alone as soon as they returned to the car.

Tomi nestled down in the seat, adjusted the blind, and sat staring on the unbelievable beauty of the scenery; miles of blue water, fading to amethyst at the horizon line and, when the road-bed curved, purple hills that dropped straight to a line of white sand. "And nary a frog leg," repeated Tomi. She sat up. That was her cue. And Allen Bartell had given it to her. Unconsciously he had placed the weapon her black army would use to win the farm from him. Clothing Workers Conclave Planned

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, men's clothing union, will hold its 13th biennial convention in New York city this year, celebrating 25 years of progress and growth. The convention is scheduled to open on May 13.

The members of the Amalgamated will come to the silver jubilee convention with a membership of a quarter of a million in the clothing and kindred industries.

the clothing and kindred industries.

The Kingston local of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, organized since 1934, has a membership in Kingston of 700 shirtworkers in the organized and unorganized shirt factories. Their president, James C. Geary, was recently elected vice president of the Capitol District Joint Board, representing 5,000 shirtworkers in the capitol district.

Plans are being made to send a large group of Kingston members to the convention for a few days, where they will meet with thousands of other clothing workers from all parts of the United States. These members will be elected to attend by the membership of the local at a meeting to be held at an early date.

Why Go to Church?

Editor, The Freeman:

The Christian Church is the largest and best organized agency in the world today working for freedom and democracy. leaders in the free nations drew their inspiration from the church and the Bible. The leaders in the slave nations, Messrs. Stalin, Hitler and Mussolini, fear as their greatest enemy the Christian church with its pene-trating searchlight, the Bible. Jesus taught the infinite worth claims that the citizen's highest function is to serve, to the giving of his life, for the glory of the state, the physical embodiment of which is the dictator himself. Everyone who attends our Christian churches and does his utmost to strengthen them is helping to drive out the dictaof the individual; the sacredness of human life. The dictator protors. And he is doing it in the Christian way, by overcoming evil with good. One of the purposes of the Christian church, especially emphasized since the Reformation, is to preserve to the individual the God-given right of choosing whom he will serve, without the coercion of a fellow creature. Every time we are tempted therefore to let our own comfort or pleasure hinder us from supporting the church by our attendance and other help, we are inviting more dictators to rise up for action. When people no longer appreciate and guard their freedom they soon lose it.

Do we want freedom, or do we want regimentation? Isn't it short-sighted to say, "I'm too busy, or tired, to think of supporting the church today," when we can see so plainly that tomorrow the result of such neglect will be the rise of a "self-appointed state" to tell us what we must do, not only on Sunday, but on every day of the week to enhance his power and glory?

War Brings Up Channel Tube

Considered by France and Britain.

LONDON .- Work on a railroad tunnel beneath the English channel, suspended nearly 60 years ago, may be resumed after the war.

Anatole de Monzie, French minthe French chamber of deputies that construction of the tunnel would be one of the first public works undertaken when peace comes.

The war has served to focus attention anew on the project as a plane and submarine attack by which food may be sped to this island and by which troops may be sent to France.

More than a mile of the tunnel was bored some six decades ago before construction was halted in 1882 by Joseph Chamberlain, father lain and then president of the board

Halted by Injunction

Chamberlain obtained a permanent injunction to restrain the Channel Tunnel company from boring any further toward the French coast without parliamentary sanction.

Regularly since then, advocates of the tunnel have attempted unsuccessfully to obtain this sanction. The present prime minister only last year said he did not believe that the tunnel would provide any extra protection to the food supply of the country in the event of an

However, Winston Churchill wrote in 1936 that such a tunnel would be inestimable value in wartime. And De Monzie in his French chamber speech said:

"We see now the great international need of the tunnel." A tunnel linking England and France first was proposed in 1802 by a French engineer named Mathieu, but it was not until 1872 that the first channel tunnel company was formed.

The first actual work was started by the South Eastern Railway in 1881. Later that same year, the Submarine Continental Railway company was formed with a capital of $1,250,000 and took over the work, absorbing the original Channel Tunnel company.

Work continued until Chamberlain obtained his injunction. The construction company still is in exoriginal name of the Channel Tunnel company in 1887

The nearest that the tunnel company came to obtaining official approval since the suspension of work was in 1930, when a parliamentary committee voted in favor of the It was rejected in the house of commons, however, by a seven-vote margin.

The cost of the tunnel has been its lowest section 300 feet below sea

Since British and French experts have estimated receipts the first year would total nearly $15,000,000, Dautry said, the tunnel would be self-supporting.

Device Is Invented to See Through Heavy Fogs

BOSTON .- A device for "seeing" through fog promises to end one of the chief dangers to sailors and airplane pilots.

William H. Priess, president of the International Television Radio corporation of Jersey City, described his "invisible light" machine on a visit to Boston.

It consists of special photoelectric cells that will pick up the invisible infra-red rays which can penetrate the thickest of fog banks. The rays then will be changed into a continuous moving picture of the landmarks and dangers lying ahead.

Tunnel Project Is Again U. S. Steel Puts Life Into Market With $1 Dividend

As had been expected, the "surprise" announcement by U. S. ister of public works, declared in Steel of a dividend of $1 on common, made after the close of the market Tuesday, not only put much needed life into the market Wednesday, but sent U. S. Steel moving upward for a gain of 3% possible national defense measure- points, while the preferred was one to provide a life line safe from of 63 stocks that made new highs for 1940. Rails made the best showing for some time and had a net gain of 81, to 30.79, while utilities advanced .13, to 24.28.

Commodities failed to follow the boom in stocks and the index showed a gain of but .10 point, following Tuesday's wave of liqui-dation which set it down. 77. Moderating weather helped drive prices lower and Chicago 1/2 to 1/8 higher. An improved demand for cotton futures halted a downward movement and the list closed six to ten points higher. Spot raw sugar sold un-changed at 2.80 cents a pound. Futures weakened under influence of Cuban selling and hedging.

In the bond market speculative issues followed the trend of stocks, investments continued steady and foreigns were mixed.

Abroad London was quiet and the close was lower with the impending budget a factor. Amsterdam market reacted favorably to reports of a possible French-Italian accord and most domestic issues closed at the day's highest levels. Paris Bourse was firm.

The French franc yesterday fell to a low point of 1.95% cents, lowest ever quoted on the New York foreign exchange market. It later rallied to 1.98 cents, a net loss of 21/2 points for the day. The pound also went into new low ground since 1933, closing at $3.491/2, off 31/4 cents.

Electric output in the U. S. for the week ended March 23 totaled istence, though it reverted to its 2.424,350,000 kwh, an increase of 10.3 per cent over the 1939 week. In the week of March 16 the gain was 10.6 per cent over last year. Under the government's new Intelligence or Looks?

Being intelligent is fine for the co-ed who wants to get good grades, but it won't help her get her man, according to tests in popularity conducted by psychology students at Arizona State college. Instead, the tests revealed, she should develop herself in the art of entertainment if she expects to gain a man's affections. The tests, conducted in a class of more than 50 students, showed that ability to entertain was the most sought-for trait not only in women but in men as well. Dr. John J. Harton, head of the psychology department, said the most amazing part of the survey was not that ability in entertainment was found to be the most desirable quality but that intelligence was ranked as the least important trait in the list of eight. As far as men were concerned, a woman's physical appearance was an all-important 150-Mile Belt To See Spectacle; Shadow To Hit All U. S.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor

New York-A partial eclipse of the sun will sweep from the West across the entire United States Sunday, April 7.

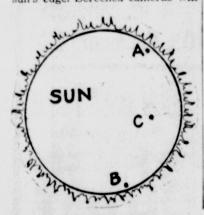

For nearly all the country, it will be a partial eclipse, but for a 150-mile-wide strip from Del Rio, Texas, to Jacksonville, Fla., the spectacle will be a rare annular-or ring-eclipse.

In the area of the annular eclipse, there will seem to be a narrow ring of fire around the moon. This will be a thin rim of the sun, visible there because the moon will be so far from the earth, its face will not completely

The Negative Shadow The moon will blot out 93 per cent of the sun's diameter, which means it will cover all but 14 per cent of the sun's area. The shadow that passes over the earth will be real enough, but won't actually be the black cone of shadow that streams from the side of the moon opposite the sun. It will be the hour-glass extension of that black cone, known to astronomers as the negative

Diagram shows difference between an ordinary and an annular eclipse. In ordinary eclipse, points within the dark cone of the moon's shadow would be totally eclipsed. In annular eclipse, points such as A, in the moon's shadow, can see points A and B on the sun's rim, but cannot see the central area of the sun, as at C. What they see is a ring, or annulus, of light. Other points, such as P, miss the ring because they can see A and C on sun, while B is obscured. So, at P, eclipse is partial.

Eight-Ounce Bomb Turns Logs to Matchwood

It took only eight ounces of Inventor Lester Barlow's new liquid oxygen-carbon bomb to send these two big logs crashing into the air—some pieces as high as 100 feet—in a demonstration of the explosive near Baltimore. Barlow claims a full size bomb will wipe out every living thing in a 1,000-foot radius. The demonstration was to show congressmen and military experts that the stuff is safe to handle.

Driving a 12,000-pound truck is a cinch for Mrs. Katherine Rainville of Previdence, R. I., who weighs 95

Averaging 50,000 to 75,000 miles a year, Ma-as she is known to truck drivers-carries new automobiles between Buffalo and Providence in all kinds of weather. When loaded, the weight of her truck is doubled.

Mrs. Rainville not only drives the truck, but makes whatever repairs are necessary. She also loads and unloads the vehicle after getting the 200-pound runways in position.

Most truckmen know and like Ma. but occasionally she meets someone who doesn't approve of women truck drivers. "Then," she says, "I just act a little high hat, too."

Ma learned about machinery on band in his trucking business.

When not busy on the interstate highways, she likes to cook for her husband and two children at their Longmeadow, Mass., home.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is one supposed to write thank-you notes for birthday cards and telegrams? Answer: Not as a rule. If the message was unexpected that is, from some one who had never remembered your birthday and whose birthday you never pay attention to, then you would probably want to make this an occasion for writing a note, or at least for sending a handwritten message on a greeting card.

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad, however, to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers.

Spring Breakfast Parties Start The Day Gay

AP Feature Service Writer You can get spring off to a joyful start if you give a breakfast party for the family or friends.

Have the table sparkle with the symbols that herald the coming of spring-gay blossoms, fluffy chicks, pink-eared bunnies.

Menus should get heartier as the day advances, so you'll have to regulate your menu by the hour of your breakfast.

An assorted trayful of juices and fruits delights the guests and allows them individual choices. Always serve appetizers very cold.

You can dress up your cereals, too. Sprinkle cooked cereals with chopped figs shaved brown sugar or nut-meats. Fill ring moulds with cooked cereal, heat it in a moderate oven, unmould and fill the centers with prunes, apricots or sliced bananas mixed with raisins. Stuff baked fruits-peaches, pears, apples or apricots-with cooked or prepared cereals and pass honey or maple syrup for the sweetening.

Browned mushrooms on broiled tomatoes surrounding a platter of fried eggs and ham is a great favorite in certain sections. Why not try it on your family? It's great. Pass Graham or bran muffins and orange marmalade.

MOTHER WEEPS, BABY LAUGHS

Tears of grief stand in the eyes of Mrs. Lloyd Matthews as she holds her 3-year-old son, Donnie, who toddled to a stove, dropped kerosene in the flames and innocently caused an explosion that killed his brother, Tommy, 5, and Donna Faye, 2. New Jersey authorities entered the far-reaching probe of Murder, Inc., asserting that the unsolved slaying of Norman Redwood, sandhog union leader, in Teaneck, N. J., had been linked with the Brooklyn killers-for-hire combine. Officials at the office of Prosecutor John J. Breslin of Bergen county, New Jersey, said the wea-pon with which Redwood had been slain had been traced to the Brownsville section of Brooklyn where the murder mercenaries made their headquarters.

It was also pointed out that Mertin (Buggsy) Goldstein, alleg-ed vice-president of Murder, Inc., and Seymour (The Goon) MaGoon, both now in custody, had long been identified with labor union rackets. Detective Sergeant Theodore Morgan of Teaneck returned to New Jersey today after several days conferring with acting Police Capt. Thomas A. Hannill, in charge of the New York end of the Redwood murder investigation.

Tobacco Auctioneers May Chant 'Swan Song' Th colorful sing-song chant of the tobacco auctioneer soon may be a thing of the past in the tobaccogrowing Southland. The chant may soon become a "swan song." For more than a hundred years the high-pitched unintelligible chatter of the auctioneer has been closely associated with the auction of tobacco. The high speed developed by these auctioneers has enabled them to cut down to 10 seconds the average selling time required for a pile of tobacco. But recent changes in auctioneering methods proposed by agricultural leaders would put tobacco selling on a streamline basis by inauguration of "block selling." Despite the fact that it has grown from a comparatively insignificant crop to one with a farm value of $300,000,000 annually in the United States, leaf tobacco has been sold by the present auction system since early in the Eighteenth century. Virtually all of the domestic crop is sold that way now. W. P. Hedrick, chief marketing specialist of the North Carolina department of agriculture, has revealed that in addition to experiments in block selling that have been undertaken recently, other innovations that may change the auction system include federal inspection service and daily government crop reports. The experiments in block selling grew out of the inauguration of tobacco inspection services in 1929.

Under this scheme, and with funds provided by the government, tobacco-grading experts were allotted to various markets throughout the South. These experts examined each pile of tobacco carefully before the sale, tagging each pile according to its grade, of which there are approximately 70 different classifications under the government grading system. Then the grower, armed with a government report giving the average price which each grade brought during the corresponding week of the previous season, could know exactly what price his tobacco should bring.

Thus the federal inspection service, coupled with daily market price reports, gave growers a check on

Will Stock Streams Despite Weather

Albany, N. Y., March 28 (A)-With the opening of the trout season less than two weeks away, Conservation Commissioner Lith-gow Osborne said today his department is preparing to complete before the end of April the largest early-season stockings of trout ever made, despite current wintry weather.
"This is possible primarily because conditions were so bad last Autumn that all the fish which could possibly be held over the winter were kept in the holding ponds," he explained.

Following a plan inaugurated a year ago, the stocking of trout in all suitable waters throughout the state is spread even a period of here are more, but we're satisfied with three good reasons that we know for "Park Fifties" amazing ease and comfort. One is the springy resilience of the stout woolen fibers from which they're made... Another the thousands of skillfully placed, pliable hand stitches that both securely anchor the garment in shape yet permit you to reach, twist, and turn with the utmost freedom. And third, the pride of knowing that here's a suit everyone will admire and respect for its fine quality.

Birth Rate of Indians Shows Upward Trend

The Indian is no longer the "vanishing American," for his birth rate is increasing faster than the white man's, western Indian service of ficials disclosed in Salt Lake City recently.

The Indian birth rate in Utah alone is three times the national average for all races and in other parts of the United States is even higher, C. C. Wright, superintendent of the Uintah and Ouray agency at Fort Duchesne, Utah, said.

The birth rate among the Utes and Piutes under jurisdiction of the Indian service is 55.4 per 1,000 population, while the national average for all peoples is 16.7 per 1,000.

revival as a race was attributed to modern science. While the white man's death rate remains about the same from year to year, improved methods of sanitation, care of maternity cases, control of children's diseases, and improved economic death frequency.

ill, assistant United States commissioner of Indian affairs, said that no group in the United States had a higher rate of natural increase than the full-blooded Indian. The northern Arizona are increasing faster than any other race in the nation.

The Indian population of the United States reached its lowest ebb between 1900 and 1910, McCaskill declared. Since then the population curve has taken a sudden upward swing.

Figures show that the rate of intermarriage has greatly decreased within the last few years and Mc-Caskill predicted the 1940 census would reveal an almost complete end of intermarriage and a building up of the full population.

Youthful Music Writer George Garratt, 21, of Mount

Lebanon, a suburb of Pittsburgh, has composed 20 unusual selections. He is studying piano, composition and conducting technique. Already played in public concerts in Texas, Detroit, and Chicago, two of Garratt's compositions are being considered for publication by the Composers Press in New York. "Many people ask me if I'm worried when my compositions are played in public without first being published," Garratt said recently. "I'm not, because there is only a slight chance of classical pieces being stolen; there is a much greater chance with popular pieces." The youthful composer's works include "Symphonic Variations," a piano concerto, a suite for two pianos and several

There is another similar, but somewhat larger of which will be brought in and of which will be brought collection by Marie Jenkins of New Paltz and Mrs. Graziano of the Anchorage, Saugerties, was just beginning to arrange her very large display of dolls. There are some 65 dolls in her exhibit, from all parts of the world.

Mrs. Graziano said that she personally had collected at least 60 per cent of the dolls shown of the large steamship lines. An unusual feature of her collection is the fact that she has in most instances both papa and mama dolls. It appears that the former are much harder to capture in their native haunts.

There are numerous stamp collections. One that attracted the writer's attention showed Egyptian commemoratives, with extended typewritten accounts of the various features of interest shown-the Colossi of Memnon, the Temple of Karnak, etc.

The popular button collecting fad is well represented. Mr. Bernstein was arranging a part of his very large collection of buttons, which features especially military buttons, both U. S. and foreign.
